

ATLANTA TEAM MEETS TEXAS CHAMPS TODAY

Mayor Sims and President Martin To Be Among Those in Parade From Terminal Station.

RAIN IS FORECAST ON EVE OF SERIES

Texas Manager Announces He Will Start Lefty Johns—Cavet Probable for Crackers.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.
Dressed up in all the wild and woolly west atmosphere they could find in their perfectly modern Texas, approximately 500 baseball fans and the Fort Worth champions of the Texas league were to arrive in Atlanta this morning to witness and play the first two games of the 1925 Dixie series with the Atlanta Crackers, champions of the Southern league.

Two special trains, running close to each other as they neared the city limits, were to enter the Terminal station at 8:30 and 9 o'clock. One of them, dispatched by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is carrying the Panthers, the 40-piece band maintained by the Fort Worth police department, and enough fans to swell the number of passengers to 292. The other train, conducted under management of the Fort Worth Record, is bringing 155 fans from Fort Worth, and a promise of others picked up along the way.

In spite of all this hoop-ra, in utter disregard of the fact that Mayor Walter A. Sims, of Atlanta, and President John D. Martin, of the Southern league, have promised to be in the welcoming contingent which will form a parade from the station to the Ansley and Biltmore hotels, the weather-man has promised rain. He didn't promise showers—scattered—and cooling breezes, which has been his custom during the waning summer. He just simply hauled off and announced he believed that the entire state of Georgia is all set for a general down-pour. The rain will have to fall mighty hard, however, to halt the first contest, which will be called at 2 o'clock this afternoon, for the seats are nearly all sold and the ground in condition to soak up a lot of moisture before turning muddy.

Prominent Men Aboard.
Among the prominent Texans who will be aboard the Star Telegram special are Clarence Kirt, who played first base for the Panthers last year and led the Texas league in home runs. He has quit baseball and is conducting an automobile business in Fort Worth. Another is Walter Morris, of Dallas, a vice president of the Dallas club, which so nearly wrested this year's championship from Fort Worth. Still others are O. E. Carr, city manager of Fort Worth, and Conley, who succeeded Larry Gardner.

FRANCE DELAYED IN RIFF CAMPAIGN

Petaim Meets Defeat in Main Objective—Only Military Miracle Can Accomplish Aim.

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.
London, September 22.—The French war in Morocco is virtually ended for this year. Unless Marshal Petaim can accomplish a military miracle, France will be compelled to admit failure in her principal objective in Morocco—the defeat of Abdel-Krim—until 1926.

This information is obtained from an authoritative British source, but the conclusion expressed is based on such non-military premises that any layman may follow the reasoning leading to it.

Within a fortnight, at the latest within three weeks, the rainy season will begin in Morocco. Slight rains already have occurred in north Africa, presaging the torrential deluges which are to come. These seasonal downpours will prevent the maneuvering of an army until well into next April, when the north African sun will have begun to absorb some of the excess moisture.

The present spectacular operations of the French and Spanish in Morocco are designed, the United News is informed, to impress the native tribes and persuade them to desert Krim so that when the war begins again next April the European allies will have a distinct advantage, the present Spanish and French positions are judged here to be unfavorable to a sudden victory such as alone could bring an immediate decisive victory this year.

FRICITION REVEALED IN U. S. AIR POLICIES BY CHIEFS OF NAVY

CRASH OF DIRIGIBLE BLAMED TO BREAK OF GIRDER BEAMS

Commander Klein and Several Survivors of Wreck Agree on Cause of Catastrophe.

SHIP WAS PASSING DANGEROUS AREA

Testimony Fails To Establish Fact That Rough Weather Alone Caused Control Car To Loosen.

Lakehurst, N. J., September 22.—(AP)—A failure of one or more girders forward of amidships caused the wrecking of the airship Shenandoah, in the opinion of Commander Sidney M. Kraus, of the special investigation board, who testified today before the naval court of inquiry.

Basing his opinion upon a personal observation of the wreck, and upon such information about the disaster as he could collect, he said this failure occurred simultaneously with or shortly before or shortly after some very considerable rotational oscillation of the ship in the line squall near Ava, Ohio, on September 3.

This breakage resulted in the nearly simultaneous failure of the frame holding the control car up under the forward end of the ship, he said, adding that the control car then pitched, adding that the after-control wires, which showed off a number of frames before it fell, carrying Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne and other officers and men to death.

Aluminum Alloy Brittle.
Officers who salvaged the forward and aft wrecked sections, testified that the aluminum alloy of which the girders and beams were made, was much more brittle near the sections where the ship broke than in other sections. They said there was no visible evidence that there had been crystallization, or any erosion of the metal, and they offered no theory as to the cause.

Commander Kraus, who observed the construction of the Los Angeles in Germany for 15 months, said that in his examination of the wreckage he found no evidence of any defective material, or defective workmanship. He also said he did not believe any of the helium gas cells had been burst, due to internal pressure, adding that those in the stern bow which necessarily were subjected to the greatest pressure, were intact.

Besides hearing Commander Klein and the salvage officers, the court received a detailed report from Commander Jacob H. Klein, president of the special investigation board sent to Ohio, and heard the stories of three other surviving officers, which generally corroborated accounts given by the large number of officers and men survivors who passed before the court in quick succession at the opening day yesterday.

Procedure Uncertain.
The last of the witnesses immediately available were heard today, and while the court decided to meet again tomorrow, its procedure is uncertain. It may examine much of the Shenandoah wreckage which arrived at the air station here from Ohio.

Announcement was made during the day that the scene within the great hull of the Shenandoah, which was re-erected for the court, with the interior.

PLAYER AT BRIDGE FORCED TO PAY TAX ON $2,770 LOSINGS

Washington, September 22.—(AP)—M. L. Heide, of New York, who related in his income tax report for 1919 that he had lost $2,770.00 playing bridge, today lost his appeal to have that sum exempted from tax.

The internal revenue bureau previously had disallowed the claim and the board of tax appeals has sustained that decision.

In its findings the board alleged that the three prerequisites to membership in Mr. Heide's club were that the applicant must be a gentleman, must be passed upon by the card committee, and must play a good game of bridge. The board also pointed out that playing bridge for stakes is illegal in New York, and therefore losses are not deductible from the tax.

U. S. REFORMATORY TO RELIEVE PRISON CONGESTION HERE

Plans Completed For Opening of New Institution at Chillicothe, Ohio, in Near Future.

Washington, September 22.—Plans for an industrial reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio, where many first offenders and boys who commit federal offenses will be placed, have been completed by the department of justice, and a new era of government prison policy has begun.

About 1,800 acres at Camp Sherman have been allocated to the department by the war department for establishment of the reformatory.

Prisoners will be transferred from the government's crowded penitentiaries in the next few weeks, and will be housed in the temporary war buildings there, which are still standing. In this way the government will relieve the congestion at its federal prisons, which has become a serious problem.

Is New Experiment.
At the same time it will begin a new experiment in prison reform. The prisoners will be given work there of various kinds, and the younger offenders will be given an opportunity to acquire an education. The land is excellent for farming, and many of the prisoners will be put to agricultural work.

The reformatory will accommodate from 1,200 to 1,500 prisoners, and 400 to 500 will be sent from each federal penitentiary.

The reformatory, for the present, will be on a temporary basis. Attorney General Sargent said Tuesday that he would ask congress for a permanent lease on the property, and for appropriations to put it on a permanent basis. Not much will be needed, he said, as all work will be done by prison labor.

Will Save Millions.
The government will save millions of dollars in cost of land and buildings by using the Camp Sherman site, Sargent said, and having the men do the work themselves.

The veterans' bureau hospital at Chillicothe is about two miles distant from the reformatory site. The property was all under the jurisdiction of the veterans' bureau, but the land for the reformatory was transferred back to the war department, and thence to the justice department.

MOFFETT SHOWS UNITY IS LACKING IN WAR BUREAUS

Aero Chief Agrees With Mitchell in Asking Independence of Personnel for Naval Air Unit.

WILBUR SCORES MITCHELL STAND

Eberle Backs Secretary in Statement That Problem Must Be Solved Inside Department.

Washington, September 22.—Friction over the government's air policies, already revealed before the president's aircraft inquiry board as existing between the army and navy, was shown to extend to administration officers of the navy proper and its air service in further testimony Tuesday.

Evidence of the lack of unity was given by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the aeronautics bureau, and came as a distinct surprise in view of his recent unceremonious attack on Colonel "Billy" Mitchell of the army air service instigator of charges that have brought about the inquiry.

Moffett, though agreeing with navy officials in the main on their contentions that the naval air service must remain an integral part of the navy, substantiated at least one of Mitchell's criticisms by suggesting the advisability of a reorganization to give his bureau complete independence in naval air service personnel.

Control of aviation by non-flying officers has been one of Mitchell's chief criticisms.

It was navy day before the board. Secretary Wilbur and the highest officials of the sea branch of defense rose stolidly to defend the navy's air policies and each in turn flatly opposed Mitchell's idea of a unified air service.

A hint that intervention at this time by the newly created air service inquiry board or by congress, would be most unwelcome and would only serve to further demoralize the aircraft situation, was seen in a statement by Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations.

"We are going to have this thing solved and it will be solved within the department," he declared emphatically.

Attacks Unified Service.
Admiral Eberle, taking the stand late in the afternoon, and studiously avoiding mention of Mitchell's name, declared that his proposal for a separate and unified air service independent of both army and navy, is "contrary to all principles of military command" and would result in "a perpetual row."

Eberle placed the entire fault of the controversy squarely upon the "impudence of young men who fail to take into consideration our entire defense problems."

He pleaded with the inquiry board by indirection to keep its hands off.

LENIENT TERMS WILL BE GIVEN FRANCE BY U. S.

Material Concessions by America Seen in Face of Recognized Financial Straits of Debtor.

CHANGE IN FRENCH ATTITUDE IS SHOWN

Caillaux and His Colleagues Will Reach New York Today—Negotiations Will Begin Thursday.

Washington, September 22.—Negotiations for funding France's four-billion dollar war debt to this country, the largest outstanding obligation, will begin here Thursday with the two commissions closely understanding the viewpoints of the other, and with prospects of an early settlement, perhaps within a week or 10 days.

There has been a noticeable change of front among members of the American commission in the last several weeks, swinging about from a rigid attitude of no material concessions to an attitude of leniency in the face of the recognized financial straits of France. There has, at the same time, been a change in the French attitude. They understand that they must pay up, and apparently are willing to sign an agreement that will require a greater financial burden than they once seemed disposed to contract.

Atmosphere Cleared.
This change of attitude on both sides has cleared the atmosphere considerably for the coming negotiations.

The two commissions will hold a formal meeting Thursday, and that night President Coolidge will be host to Finance Minister Caillaux at a white house dinner, when the two are expected to discuss the situation informally, with the head of the French commission giving Coolidge some indication of what his government can do.

The American debt commission will make substantial concessions. Two alternative proposals that have been considered by experts would give France an opportunity to get on her feet financially before the heavy payments begin. It was emphasized by a member of the commission Tuesday that whatever sacrifices this government makes will cover only the period of present financial difficulties in France, which it is believed are temporary and will be overcome.

This member pointed out that the "capacity to pay" of France will be predicated upon her productive capacity as well as upon budget conditions. Her productive capacity, it is reported by American observers, is higher now than in 1923, and will improve gradually.

Sacrifice By U. S.
It was pointed out that any reduction of interest payments below a rate of 4 1/2 per cent would be a sacrifice by American taxpayers, as the Liberty bonds, which furnished the money for loans to France, cannot be reduced either in principal or interest, but must be met in full.

France, it appears certain, will get a moratorium on interest for a period, either partial or total, but must begin to pay on the principal at once, to which she appears reconciled. Two alternative compromises, one on the British plan of settlement, which has been the basis for previous settlements.

VOTERS OF ATLANTA WILL BALLOT TODAY ON CITY HALL BONDS

WOMEN ARE URGED TO SUPPORT BONDS IN FINAL APPEALS

Parent-Teacher Official Warns of Removal of School Headquarters Because of Congestion.

MRS. INMAN URGES NEW CIVIC VISION

Woman's Club President Sees "Civic Housekeeping" as Woman's Duty for City's Progress.

An eleventh-hour appeal for women of Atlanta to rally to support of the city hall bond issue, to be decided at the polls between 7 o'clock this morning and 7 o'clock tonight, was made Tuesday afternoon in statements from Mrs. Ed A. Pierce, Parent-Teacher official and ninth ward member of the board of visitors of the school department; Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, and Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, for years an outstanding figure in constructive civic movements.

Registration books for the bond election will be kept open on the first floor of city hall from 8 o'clock this morning until 5 o'clock this afternoon, under the ruling of the city attorney that voters are entitled to register throughout the regular office hours of the day of the election.

The half holiday declared for other city hall departments will not affect registration offices where a full force of registrars will remain on duty as required by law. No poll tax or any other special assessment is charged for registering to vote for bonds.

Message to Mothers.
Mrs. Pierce called attention of mothers of Atlanta to the imminent removal of school department headquarters from the centrally located downtown offices in the city hall and the Brown building out to the old Walker Street school, located beyond the gas works from the center of the city, and which was abandoned as a white school two years ago because the industrial development of the section resulted in a dwindling of attendance below the point where the school could be kept in operation.

Mrs. Pierce referred to the statement made last week by John T. Hancock, president of the board of education, deploring the necessity for removal to such quarters, which are so constructed and so located as to be unsuitable for school offices.

The removal was forced, however, he said, because of the unbearably crowded conditions at the city hall and the inability of the school board to meet the cost of rental of enough downtown office space to keep the administrative offices under one roof in a centrally-located building, other than the city hall.

Rape Proposed Change.
"The new city hall is a civic need as important to those whose chief interest is the school system as it is to any others in Atlanta," Mrs. Pierce declared. "Personally I shrink from the thought of sending new residents of Atlanta with their children to the railroad tracks, beyond the gas works to the Walker street school to get their first impression of Atlanta's school system. Still I do not think that anyone will consider the board of education in any way open to criticism for voting the change. It was simply the lesser of two great evils."

"A new city hall with ample space and central location and of appearance."

INTEREST IN BONDS FAR OVERSHADOWS CITY OFFICE RACES

Citizens Will Select Aldermen, Councilmen and Fill Posts on Education Board Today.

BACKERS PREDICT SUCCESS OF BONDS

Stress Importance of Heavy Vote To Assure Success of Big Development for Atlanta.

With a registration list of approximately 14,000, voters of Atlanta Wednesday will settle the question of issuing bonds of $2,000,000 for a new city hall to be erected on county property at Hunter street and Central avenue, and at the same time 13,262 democratic voters will nominate members of the board of aldermen, 12 members of council, 12 members of the board of education and a superintendent of the city water works.

Chief interest centers in the proposed bond issue. With no organized opposition to the measure, leaders in the campaign for bonds stated Tuesday that there is no doubt the voters will favor the move and said the only doubt is that the vote will be large enough to fall within the law governing bond issue elections.

City Attorney James L. Mayson stated Tuesday night that the law requires that two-thirds of those voting in the election must favor the bonds and that this two-thirds vote in favor of bonds must amount to a majority of the registered voters in the election.

In the races for nominations for city offices in the primary where more than two candidates are running, the winning candidate must receive a majority of the total vote cast. In event no one candidate receives a majority, a run-off primary will be held later at a date and under rules fixed by the city democratic executive committee.

Plans to get out the vote of those who attend the baseball game between Atlanta and Fort Worth for the Dixie championship were announced Tuesday by Dan Michalove, owner of the Crackers. Announcers with megaphones will call attention of baseball fans to the election and will urge all who wish to vote to go to the polls and vote for the bond issue.

Leaders Urge Votes.
Leaders working for passage of the city hall bonds, in a final statement, pointed out that sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of the bond issue and predicted a larger vote in favor of the bonds than the required two-thirds. They stressed the importance of all voters going to the polls and casting their ballots so that the two-thirds vote in favor of the bonds would constitute the majority of registered voters.

Although a half holiday has been declared for Wednesday for city employees, office of the city clerk will be kept open until 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon so that voters may register.

MITCHELL SPEEDS TO AIRSHIP PROBE

San Antonio, Texas, September 22.—Colonel William Mitchell, whose bitter denunciation of the war and navy departments for their conduct of aviation resulted in an official investigation of the country's aircraft protection, is speeding across Texas in a motor car, en route to Washington to testify Monday before the aircraft inquiry board.

Accompanied by Harry Short, civilian aircraft inspector attached to his personal staff, Mitchell, who last Monday was relieved from further staff duty as air officer of the eighth corps area, departed late Tuesday afternoon for the capital.

The journey will be made by way of Dallas, St. Louis, Indianapolis and Dayton. At St. Louis, Mrs. Mitchell and her baby daughter will join the colonel. She was notified of his sudden departure after she had left Detroit, Mich., for San Antonio.

The summons calling Mitchell to Washington also orders him to report to his proper station, Fort Sam Houston, upon completion of "this temporary duty."

Characteristic energy marked the colonel's preparations for his departure. Immediately upon receipt of this order he started to put his office in shape for his absence and within a few hours was speeding over the highways toward Washington.

Prior to leaving, Colonel Mitchell made public a telegram in answer to one received from a Washington acquaintance in which it was intimated there were powers ready to endow him with honors if he would refuse to prosecute his fight when called as a witness by the probe.

The reply was emphatic in its insistence that under no consideration would he forego his convictions and "sell out."

That a separate order for his appearance before the board of inquiry sitting at Lakehurst and probing the Shenandoah disaster would be issued for Mitchell's appearance there, was the opinion of his brother officers.

The aircraft investigators have not only reached to the eighth corps area

headquarters, but have been felt at Kelly, Brooks and Duncan fields here. Orders were received for chiefs of these flying fields to furnish immediately to Washington headquarters a detailed account of flying during the past year. Especially wanted are figures on the number of aircraft flown by individual ships of various types.

U. S. REFORMATORY TO END CONGESTION

the department of justice. The veteran's bureau still retains about 3,000 acres.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT TOLD OF PLANS ON VISIT HERE

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of federal prisons, will visit here during the first of the federal reformatory while a visitor to Atlanta this spring.

She stated to newspaper men at the time that congress had passed a bill providing that the age limit for first offenders eligible for admission to the camp be 30 years.

Two sites were being considered by the committee at that time, she said, but added that members of the committee favored the Ohio location.

Mrs. Willebrandt is in Atlanta on official business, when negotiations for the proposed reformatory site were first made known. She declared such an institution would do much to help relieve congested conditions at federal prisons.

The committee making the selection was composed of department of justice and war department officials.

FRANCE WILL GET LENIENT TERMS

ments, and another on a different basis, are under consideration by American experts.

Points of Plans.

The principal points in the first are as follows:

Immediate payments by France on the principal, amounting to about one-half of 1 per cent for the first one or two years, and increasing gradually until the 3 1/2 per cent annual principal amortization provided in the British settlement is reached.

Reduction of accrued interest through calculating it at 4 1/4 per cent up to December 15, 1922, and at 3 per cent since, instead of 4 1/4 per cent throughout.

A moratorium of 5 or 10 years on interest payments, possibly with small annuities during this time. Thereafter, France would pay the same interest rate as the British, 3 per cent for the first 10 years and 3 1/2 for 22 years more.

Either a "flexible provision" providing for a reassessment later of the French capacity to pay, or a "gentleman's agreement" whereby France could demand revision at the end of the moratorium if it becomes apparent she cannot meet the terms.

Second Compromise.

The second compromise being considered would call for payment by France of about $100,000,000 a year after a moratorium. France could meet this payment out of German reparations, it is held. While it is believed that France may not get the maximum reparations as outlined by the Dawes plan, it is believed she will receive between $200,000,000 and $225,000,000 out of her 52 per cent. Of this, she could apply $100,000,000 a year to the American debt, and $75,000,000 to her British debt, thus giving a leeway for reconstruction purposes and for risk on the German payments.

The first plan, it appears, would be most acceptable to congress, as it follows the British plan, with certain departures. However, officials point out that the second is unalterable, and would so argue to congress if such a settlement were negotiated.

Congress might object to the second plan on the ground that it implies an average interest rate below 2 per cent.

On Board the Steamer France, September 22.—(AP)—Joseph Caillaux, France's finance minister, and his colleagues were looking forward tonight with restrained eagerness to their landing tomorrow in New York.

Caillaux and his colleagues are expected to arrive in New York for the commencement of the negotiations of a settlement of France's debt to the United States.

Since they have been at sea on the voyage across the Atlantic the French commissioners have been going over with extreme care documents which set forth numerous points bearing on the forthcoming negotiations.

M. Caillaux has been presented with an address, signed by a large number of American passengers aboard the steamer, wishing him success in his endeavors to bring about a satisfactory settlement of the debt problem.

War Tactics Being Used In Man Hunt

Toluca, Ill., September 22.—(AP)—Business halted today while this little town of 800 persons vigorously pressed a man hunt for Joseph Stemas, 60-year-old crazed miner, who already has killed two peace officials.

Every available man of the town was under arms and a posse of 100 was being rapidly augmented as it searched corn fields a mile north of where it was believed Stemas had sought refuge.

As the posse advanced a methodical search was made of every field, and members of the posse, many of whom were war veterans, deployed in world-war fashion. They were equipped with tear bombs. At first it was thought Stemas was trapped last night in a deserted farmhouse near the town. Bombs were hurled into the house, but the man was not there.

Stemas shot and killed Sheriff Orville Litchfield, 29, and John Leonard, 35, night chief of police, when the officers tried to arrest him at his home last night. He shot the officers with an automatic shotgun and a revolver when they burst through the bolted doors of his home. They had sought to arrest him for beating his wife.

FRESHMEN EMERGE AS VICTORS IN TILT WITH STATE SOPHS

Athens, Ga., September 22.—(Special).—For the first time in many years freshmen "ran over" the sophomores in the annual class "fight" here at the University of Georgia. The opposing classes marched down opposite streets and clashed right in the center of town. The sophomores were completely routed and in five minutes after they met only "shaven" heads were seen on the downtown streets.

Widow of Curzon Given Nomination For Parliament Seat

Stone-on-Trent, England, September 22.—(AP)—Lady Cynthia Mosley, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon, was unanimously nominated as the prospective labor candidate for a seat in parliament to represent this constituency. She was the sole nominee but is not likely to become a member of the house until the next general election.

Lady Cynthia told her constituents that she accepted the whole program of the socialist party.

The recent announcement that Lady Cynthia Mosley would stand for parliament as a socialist caused considerable commotion among England's aristocracy for her noted father was unalterably opposed to socialism and the socialist view.

Lady Cynthia, whose mother was Mary Lister, daughter of the Facts about Atlanta

Personal property in Atlanta for 1925, as returned upon the books of the tax receiver, totals $71,887,365. This represents a gain of $3,209,380 over the returns of 1924. It is apparent, therefore, that in addition to the healthy increase in real estate values in Atlanta, year by year, that personal holdings are correspondingly enhancing.

Automobiles in Atlanta in 1925 are valued $3,049,775 as against a valuation in 1924 of $2,823,195, a gain of $226,580. While the sale of automobiles would not be regarded as a final barometer of business conditions, it is, nevertheless, a corroborative fact to Atlanta's certain and steady growth.

White persons in Atlanta returned property in 1925 valued at $240,653,685 as against $229,542,970 in 1924, showing a gain of $11,128,715. Negroes in Atlanta returned property in 1925 valued at $5,840,005 as against $5,532,210 in 1924, showing a gain of $307,795.

An appreciable factor in the enhancement of Atlanta real estate during the past year has been the location here of more than a dozen major industrial concerns. Their selection of Atlanta for their southern distributing point is unmistakable evidence of the soundness of business in this city.

A telling argument in bringing outside capital to Atlanta has been the recital of the tax rate here as compared with other large cities of the United States. The recent survey by Mr. Lamar Lyndon reveals the following facts:

City	Rate	Ratio	Actual
ATLANTA	$1.30	$1.00	$1.30
Baltimore	2.30	1.77	4.07
Boston	2.80	2.15	5.95
Buffalo	2.40	1.85	4.44
Chicago	3.00	2.31	6.31
Cincinnati	1.75	1.35	2.36
Cleveland	2.15	1.65	3.54
Detroit	2.00	1.54	3.08
Kansas City	2.00	1.54	3.08
Los Angeles	2.25	1.73	4.58
Minneapolis	2.25	1.73	4.58
Milwaukee	2.25	1.73	4.58
St. Louis	2.25	1.73	4.58
St. Paul	2.25	1.73	4.58
Seattle	2.25	1.73	4.58

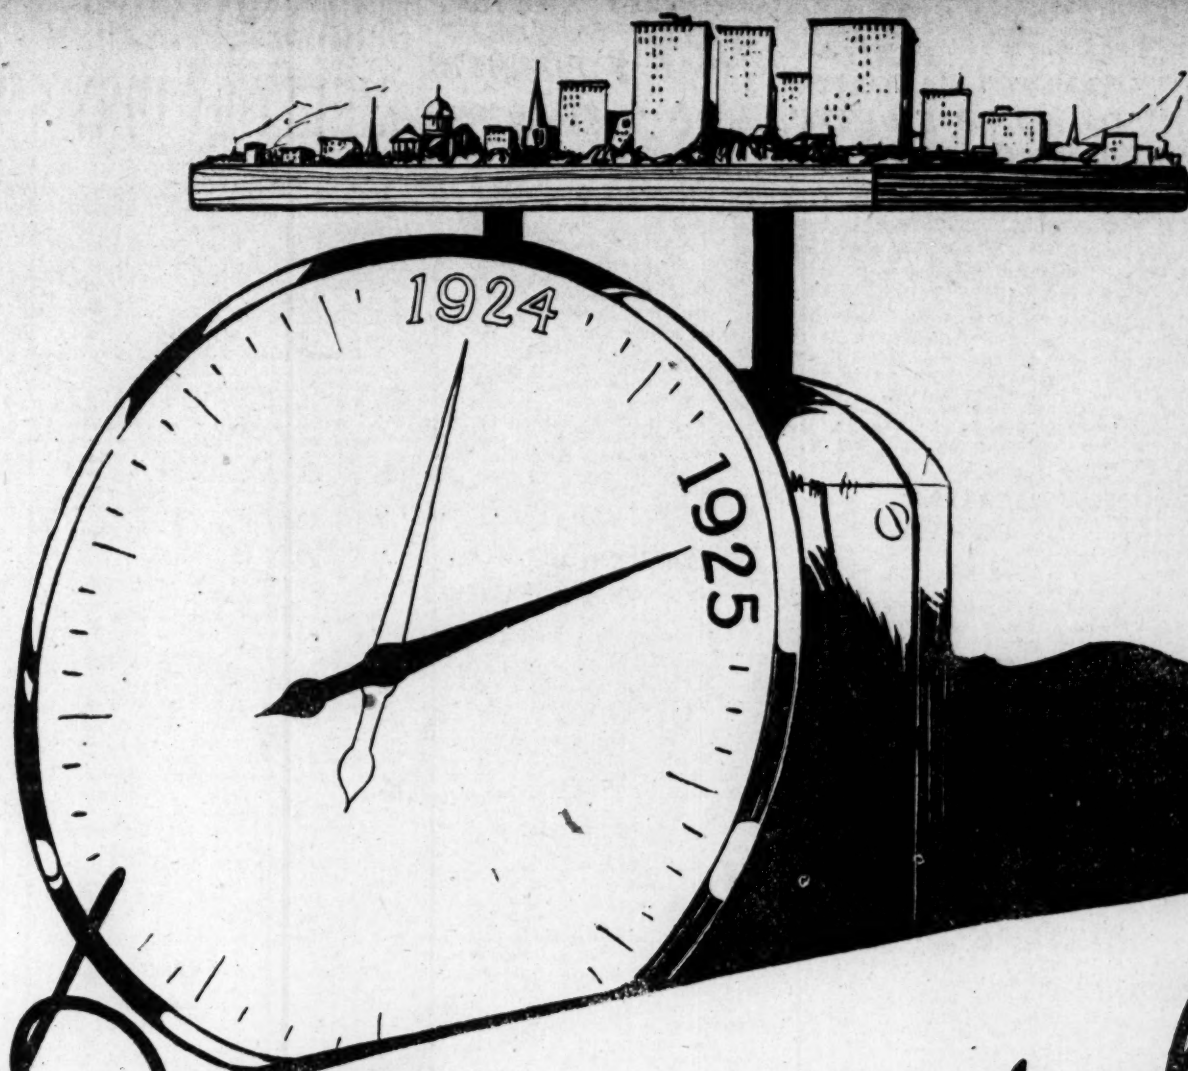

Note a—City assessment based on 70% of actual value; County and State, 70% of city assessment.

Note b—Legal basis of assessment, 100%.

Note c—Legal basis of assessment, 50%.

Note d—Legal basis of assessment, 38%.

The city has fixed certain business and occupational taxes (licenses) which are required of all persons, firms and corporations engaged in business within the city limits on which such tax is levied. These taxes are in addition to state, county and city ad valorem and state occupational taxes. Attention is called to the fact that the state and county tax, state occupational, city ad valorem and city occupational (licenses) levied on industries, business, etc., combined rate of all of these seldom reach in excess of 1.9 per cent of the actual value. Few states and cities, if any, in the Union have tax rates lower and comparable with this rate.

Dollars and Sense prosperity

Atlanta Is Owned by the Men and Women Who Hold Titles to Its Real Estate

ATLANTA real estate, when weighed in the balances of safe and sound investment, has never been found wanting. The acid test of land values has always been this searching question: Will this parcel of land earn a reasonable profit over and above its purchase price and its essential costs of improvement and taxes? The seventy-five years of records on Atlanta real estate bear convincing testimony to an affirmative answer to this inescapable question. Dollars invested in Atlanta real estate have revealed the good sense of far-seeing business men.

Atlanta was zoned by Nature as a permanently safe center for investment. These circling hills on which our forbears battled to establish a Gateway City for the South, formed, not only the indispensable aids to those bloody struggles, but were fundamentally the prescribed guides to this pivotal site where railway lines would focus and thus determine the logical trading point of the great Southeast. The prosperity of Atlanta has, therefore, always been guaranteed by this natural vantage point which the kindly hand of Destiny fixed.

What are the facts in the case? A tabulation of the returns just made for the current year on the books of the tax receiver of Fulton County reveals the romance of Atlanta's steadily growing real estate values. Three thousand, one hundred and twenty-seven persons made tax returns on Atlanta real estate for the first time this year—showing the large number of people who bought Atlanta real estate during the past year. The gain in Atlanta real estate in the past year, as appraised on the books of the tax receiver, is $8,027,130! The increased value of land in Fulton County is shown to have been within the city limits of Atlanta, more than seven million dollars of the increase being upon property within the city. The total real estate returns within the city limits for this year amount to $164,046,835. County real estate this year totals $10,046,835. A total of 28,196 persons own real estate in Atlanta.

The enduring fortunes in Atlanta have been made, almost uniformly, on Atlanta real estate, or preserved, as in some cases, by investment in Atlanta real estate. Dollars earned by Atlanta's steadily mounting land values are safely invested in other Atlanta parcels that guarantee to the investor a certain enhancement. Talk to any resident of Atlanta who has put his or her money in real estate and they will invariably tell you that the safest and surest returns upon long-time or short-time investments will be found in Atlanta real estate. They can substantiate their testimony by their coupons.

Remarkably moderate taxes upon this undisputed land value combines to offer the prospective investor a rare opportunity to put his money where it will be certain of reasonable earnings. Opportunity beckons you Atlantaward. Proved statistics assure you safe returns upon your investments. Prosperity is guaranteed to everyone who will put his dollars into Atlanta real estate.

ADDRESSES MARK MEET OF EDITORS

West Point, Ga., September 22.—(Special).—Addresses by Attorney General George M. Napier on "The Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial" and Jack Williams, of the Waycross Journal-Herald, on "Advertising," which followed brief business sessions this morning were features of the Georgia Press Association convention here today. The meeting opened Monday night and will end Saturday after delegates leave here Thursday for the association camp, near Tallulah.

A discussion of the problems of the weekly press by Isidore Golders, of Fitzgerald, and O. W. Passavant, of Newnan, marked afternoon sessions. Automobile sight seeing trips to surrounding points of interest were the entertaining features of the day.

4 out of 5
is grim pyorrhea's count

DENTAL STATISTICS tell this grim story: four people out of every five are destined, through neglect, to contract pyorrhea after they pass the age of forty. Thousands younger also suffer.

Pyorrhea is the dread disease of the gums which is responsible often for loss of teeth, rheumatism, neuritis and other dangerous disorders.

It starts with tender bleeding gums. Pockets form below the teeth and poisons spread relentlessly through the body. If you have pyorrhea or any of its symptoms see your dentist at once and start brushing your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums.

To safeguard yourself against pyorrhea make Forhan's your regular dentifrice. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., and contains his pyorrhea liquid which has been used by dentists the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. If used regularly and used in time it will prevent pyorrhea or check its course. Don't give this insidious disease a chance to start. Start using Forhan's this very day. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Athens, Ga., September 22.—(Special).—Two new professors have joined the school of commerce of the University of Georgia. They are Professor W. Mason Smith, S. S., from Northwestern university, and Professor M. H. Bryan, M. A., Illinois university.

Social Feature Given Election In East Atlanta

Politics will take on a social atmosphere in the East Atlanta district of the eleventh ward today when a committee from the Parent-Teacher association will act as "election hostesses" and serve cold drinks to all the tired and thirsty voters who appear to cast their ballots for favored candidates or for city hall bonds at the polling place in the East-Atlanta Bank building.

"We are not going to work for any particular candidate or any side of the bond issue question," Mrs. Emmett Ward, chairman of the hostess committee said. "The Parent-Teacher association is distinctly a non-political organization and does not take sides, but it is a civic organization and as such our committee hopes to make East Atlanta precinct poll 100 per cent of the registered vote."

The cold drinks for the occasion were secured from an executive of the Grape-Dew company, who declared himself glad of the opportunity to cooperate with the organization in bringing out the full vote for the primary and election.

Low Rites Today.
Funeral services for Robert E. Lowe, 47 years old, well-known Atlantan who died Monday night at his home, 32 Altona place, will be held this afternoon from the residence, the Rev. E. G. Thompson officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Mr. Lowe had been a resident of Atlanta for more than 20 years, all of which time he was connected with the Standard Oil company.

the married couple will leave by motor on their honeymoon in Germany.

CHILDREN OF UNION WILL BE CATHOLICS.
Rome, September 22.—(AP).—The pope has granted a special dispensation for the marriage of Princeess Nafalda, Catholic, and Prince Philip of Hesse, Lutheran, for the particular reason that not only does Nafalda remain undisturbed in the Catholic faith, but has promised to bring up the children of the union in the same religion, without interference or restraint from her husband.

New Boys' Secretary
For Y. M. C. A. Division
Assumes Duties Here
Elmer P. Hardy assumed his duties as secretary of the boys' work department of the Young Men's Christian association, Tuesday, coming here from Bayonne, N. J., where he has been in charge of the work for boys in the Industrial Y. M. C. A., maintained at that point by the Standard Oil company for the boys in its employ. Mr. Hardy is a native of Maryland and began his Y. M. C. A. work at Washington, D. C. In 1916 he attended the Y. M. C. A. college at Chicago and upon completion of the course he entered immediately upon his work as boys' secretary, and with the exception of two years spent with the A. E. F. overseas, has been in Y. M. C. A. service for the past eight years.

GRADE CROSSING LAW TO BE COMPLIED WITH

Initial steps toward meeting provisions of the new state law requiring the placing of "stop" signs at dangerous railroad grade crossings were taken Tuesday at a conference between legal representatives and engineering officials of all railroads in Georgia at the Terminal Station assembly room of the Southern railway. The meeting was attended also by W. R. Neel, state highway engineer, and George Deibert, secretary of the Atlanta Safety council.

Signs to be placed on each side of dangerous crossings at a distance of 100 feet from the nearest track, according to the new state law, must be at least 10 feet high and in nine-inch letters, the words "Georgia Law—Stop—Unsafe Railroad Crossing." The sign boards are to be 30 inches high and 40 inches wide. All motorists must come to complete stop before crossing grade crossings thus marked and dangerous crossings are to be designated by county commissioners.

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00. Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $26.00.

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today, it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today, 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where crude rubber prices go.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is an exclusive method used by Firestone. It is an extra process, carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendering machines. Gum-Dipping insulates and impregnates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and practically eliminates internal friction and heat and builds strength and endurance into the tire.

In the day-in and day-out service of taxicab, bus and truck operators—on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists everywhere—Firestone Full-Size Gum-Dipped Cords are giving unheard of mileage, dependability and satisfaction.

Get ready for the coming months of slippery pavements and bad roads. Assure yourself of greater safety, comfort and economy by equipping now with Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloons.

WELL BEGUN!

Council, under the well-timed advice of Mayor Sims, has acted none too soon in the matter of abating
the sewage nuisance which is polluting the streams around the city to such an extent as not only to affect the communities in the vicinity of these streams but also to menace
the comfort—if not the health—of the whole city.

As a result of the long-prevailing drouth the city is infested by a mosquito plague attributed largely to inadequate sewerage facilities. The attendant discomfort is felt in thousands of homes, and it has served to make more manifest than ever the absolute necessity of completing the unfinished work of caring for the city's sewage.

About fifteen years ago, when conditions were not so bad as they are now, Rudolph Herring, of national prominence as a sanitary engineer, was engaged to make a scientific study of and report on the steps necessary to be taken at that time to remedy the complaint growing out of the sewage nuisance.

At that time Engineer Herring urged the city to build not for the present but for the future, admonishing it that the Peachtree creek disposal plant as then authorized would meet conditions only temporarily. He urged the construction of a plant of greater capacity at that time; but the city, feeling unable financially to meet a greater expenditure, authorized an appropriation of only enough to meet conditions then existing, the understanding being that the plant would from time to time be enlarged as necessity required. That was fifteen years ago, and there has been no extension of the capacity of that plant since then.

The result is that more untreated sewage is now passing into Peachtree creek than at the time when the city was forced to take action to abate the nuisance then existing.

Mayor Sims' message to council forcibly called attention to the necessity of prompt action, and by a unanimous vote council authorized the sewerage committee to make a scientific investigation of conditions and to report on the steps to be taken to remedy an evil which has become a public menace.

Fortunately, this committee is composed of some of the strongest men in council and that it will give prompt attention to this serious matter cannot be doubted.

Councilman Horace Russell in introducing the resolution urging immediate action properly declared that the condition created by the sewage-polluted streams is a menace not only to people living in those neighborhoods, but to the entire city. He takes the position that the remedy is the construction of sewerage mains down the Peachtree creek basin all the way from Druid Hills to the Chattahoochee river, near which point Mayor Sims thinks the disposal plant should be located,
removing it from its now objectionable position.

This is a work in which the council commissioners will no doubt be glad to cooperate.

The main thing now is to start the investigation without further delay, ascertaining just what is to be done and how it can best be done.

The law of the state against the pollution of streams is clear and explicit. No city has a right to pollute the streams around it. The city that does it becomes liable for damages.

Fortunately, legal recourse is not contemplated in this instance, because there can be no doubt that the city, realizing the gravity of the situation, will take such steps as may be necessary to remedy the evil.

Scientific investigation of the broadest character by experts of undoubted ability should be undertaken with the least possible delay.
The situation is such as not to permit longer of temporization.

A broad plan of development
based upon scientific research should be adopted, with the view of not only meeting temporary conditions, but of taking care of the requirements of a city of half a million people.

The mistake made 15 years ago in providing temporary relief is more apparent, and the error of that policy has been so closely established that there is no room for doubt now as to the policy that should be pursued in the future.

THIS SPORTS CAPITAL.

The opening in Atlanta this afternoon of the "little world series" for the baseball championship of the south accents the fact that this city is the acknowledged sports capital of this section of the union.

Today all of Atlanta is convulsed
in the throes of baseball fever!

For this afternoon at Spiller field
the opening gun of the series between the Atlanta Crackers, champions of the Southern league, and the Fort Worth Panthers, champions of the Texas league, will be fired.

The Panthers, headed by Jakey Aiz, supported by several hundred rabid baseball fans from Texas, are in the city. For six consecutive years the Panthers have captured the flag in the Texas league, and for five of these years have succeeded in defeating the Southern league entrant in the post league series.

There can be no doubt that the Texans are a formidable ball club and will prove foemen worthy of the Crackers' steel.

No better sportsmen ever wore Atlanta uniforms than the personnel of the present Atlanta baseball club,
and no finer gentleman and cleaner sportsman ever managed a ball club than Bert Niehoff.

While naturally Atlantans are pulling for the "old home team," it is, nevertheless, the whole-hearted voice of Atlanta—"May the best team win!"

Henry W. Grady, who did many notable and enduring deeds in his brief and brilliant life, did few more wholesome than the organization of the Southern baseball league with its home-plate in Atlanta. He sensed the need of his struggling,
hard-pushed fellow citizens for honest outdoor recreations and public diversions. And ever since Atlanta has been a leader in the promotion of such sports as could have the indorsement and support of respectable people.

Golf was negligible in Grady's day. Such as there was was laughed up as "glorified shinny." But golf has now become the truly national amateur game and Atlanta has produced for both hemispheres
the peerless clumpion of the links, Bobby Jones, with Watts Gunn as his runner-up.

Alexa Sterling, while an Atlanta girl, went around the hardest links
in the country with champion strokes and scores. Add Adair and the claim of Atlanta as the nation's golf capital is undisputed.

Young Stribling has punched and slammed his way to the front ranks of the light-heavyweight division of the boxing game and bids well to rival, if not excel, the records of Sullivan, Corbett and Dempsey.

The Crackers have won the Southern pennant in other years and this season fought a strenuous battle to capture it again. Atlanta is backing them to win a thrilling victory over the Panthers from the prairies of Texas, and that ending of the "little world series" will go far to confirm the city's position as the south's capital of genteel and honorable sports.

THE TOCCOA RECORD.

The Toccoa (Ga.) Record celebrated the installation of a new press and a complete new type equipment by the publication last week of a "national publicity edition" of four 8-page sections. It was admirably printed, and the edition showed marked care and interest in preparation of copy and in selection of illustrations. It told the story of Stephens county and its trading zone with great credit, the completed edition making a current history of the resources and opportunities, and of the agricultural, industrial, economic, educational and civic interests, that is of inestimable value, and will be of lasting benefit to that section.

Editor Graves is to be warmly commended for his enterprise. And what is equally as worthy is the support shown so liberally by the business men and institutions of that county.

Mr. Rockefeller's one and only poem, written in his serene old age, undoubtedly proves the wisdom of his decision to devote his life to the oil business.

THE WORLD'S LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

A Cultural

Pact.

Monsieur de Monzie, minister of education in France, is described in the Berlin press as "the first Frenchman to visit since the war who is not looking for concealed weapons." Monsieur de Monzie is the dean of Sor-bonne university. He says he came to Germany to bring in binding of two nations together in a cultural pact.

For centuries the scientists of the two nations have been cooperating for discovery, to advance ideas and to work for the benefit of humanity as a whole. Their task actually transcended nationality; they were on a higher plane. It was a terrible calamity when the dictates of their respective countries made them abandon their freedom of conscience. There is now hope today that the fellowship between men of different nationalities will be reestablished, that a new agreement will spring up to renounce the errors of their respective nations. This prospect is a happy one. Germany and France is but one more of the agencies striving for international harmony. These agencies are still in the minority, but they may in the future become a majority and become a beacon to guide mankind, when passions are loosed again and hatred goes on the rampage.

Golden

Medicine.

Colonel de Beauharnais, traveling in Tibet, writes home to England that the hardy natives have an abundance of gold and use some of it for medicine. The colonel does not go into details and we are left in the dark as to the ailments for which gold is considered a soothing remedy.
A Tibetan reading our newspapers about "heart-balm" in cases of breach of promise may receive a similar impression. But he will not be cured if he is more likely that the Tibetans use gold in the manner of our own ancestors in the middle ages. There was a custom in those days to hold a gold coin
in the mouth and drink the liqueur.
Drinkable gold was long a favorite in France and England. Madame de Mantenon's first husband always believed that gold would be cured if he only drank enough liquid gold. Madame de Sevigne's friend, Corbielli,
was also a firm believer in its power.
The gold coin was not yet used in
the "liquid gold" of the present day.
"The liquid gold" of the present day
is a "little funeral" of herbs to take place morning and evening until her leg was well. A really learned doctor, who practiced medicine in the sixteenth century, in his pamphlets, nevertheless maintained that the best cure for quartan fever was to place a split white herring, tail upwards, along the patient's backbone. He also believed in miracles, for when he was at Louvain he expressly asked to see the superior of the Trulline convent, on whose altar he was said to have written three words in red. The scientist inspected the marks and succeeded in rubbing off most of the ink.
The lady had used it and was convinced respecting the truth of that.
Was the doctor's remark on taking leave from the convent and with these ambiguous words he has left posterity
in the dark ever since.

Suicide

Increasing.

Brigadier Chapman, chief of the Salvation Army's anti-suicide bureau,
in resigning from his office recently stated that it is harder to dissuade people from killing themselves than it used to be. The war seems to have jangled the world's nerves. People in general are more despairing than formerly.
The war taught us to hold life cheaply," said the brigadier. It is true that the least sorrow, dissatisfaction or failure of any kind often leads people to the brink of self-destruction.
In our times, but the phenomenon has been generally observed following great calamities. The Thapsus disaster in 1862, the death of Europe in the fourteenth century, which swept away at least one-third of the population, brought in its train a social and economic profligacy, lack of production, phrenetic gaiety, dissipation, greed, hysteria and moral decay, but also an unheard-of number of suicides.
They were off on all kinds of tan-gents. There were charlatans, witch-doctors, flingallants, sorcerers and extremists of all kinds trying to cure
the souls of the people. In our days people have become so used to the idea of death that they begin to consider it as an easy exit, a retreat from a dreary life, a total negation. There has probably been no greater cause of suicide in the world during the last centuries than the collapse of Soviet Russia. Not only among the members of the bourgeoisie in that country, but also among the small "rentiers"
of France, Germany and in Belgium who had their life savings invested in Russian "papers." In one small Flemish town with a population of 12,000 there were no fewer than 21 suicides directly traceable to the Russian debacle.

Happy

Days.

Clothing of the future will develop in the direction of adaptability to climate and occupation, says Fournier D'Albe in "Quo Vadimus," one of the interesting and highly informative lectures in the series of lectures presented by Dutton. Common agreement among civilized peoples is to determine the amount of clothing that is to be worn. But as climate and the ways played a prominent psychological part in adornment and heightening of beauty, the nude cult, now coming, will be a lasting manner. But we shall eventually combine the Greek ideal of expressive drapery with the exaggeration of the modern. The modern problem will not exist in the future for the simple reason that there will be no domestic servants and no work in the house will be done by the turning of switches and the aiming of implements resembling magic wands. Labor will be accomplished in the spirit of adventure and comradeship. The writer compares its character to that of an Arctic expedition, the matter of dress will be no
unlike the distribution of prizes for potato racing, relay racing and tugs-of-war at the close of a neighborhood picnic.

I. O. O. F. TO HOLD 1926

MEET AT PHILADELPHIA

Portland, Ore., September 22.—(C)

Philadelphia was chosen for the next annual meeting of the sovereign grand masters of the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows by unanimous vote of the delegates at the one hundred and first convention of the order here today.

The meeting will be held the third

Monday in September.

Some time ago you gave a formula for chronic discharging ear and now I should like to use it, if you will be good enough to reprint the information. My ear has been running now for two years, and I have consulted

several specialists who have done me

little good.—(F. M. S.)

Answer.—I do not know about the preparation you mention. Some new formulations of cod liver oil are all right,

still contain the vitamins of the oil,

but others are worthless. Plain unflavored cod liver oil is the best. It is character, all right, but it isn't necessarily a nasty taste.

New York, September 22.—A smart

Fifth avenue haberdasher tells us that the taste of men this autumn

is decidedly brown. From head to foot

they will be walking symphonies of that color. Confirmation from Paris to this effect holds it that never in the memory of the couturiers and costumiers of the Boulevards had there been such a tendency toward brighter colors in masculine garb.

Other predictions are that black will gradually give way to dark blue for formal evening wear; another epidemic of double-breasted affairs is on the way and alas and black, the "Oxford bags," started as a student's prank, will still be with us even when the snow begins to fly.

To be a fruit peddler along Park Row or any of the busier downtown streets requires the patience of Job,
the wisdom of Solomon and the strength of Samson at times. Patience, because no east-side urchin will pass the cart laden with pears or grapes without making a bold attempt to get a grimy flaking; wisdom, because peddling and hawking is for-bidden when reduced to a stationary position. Every cop has instructions to keep the peddlers moving and the bluecoats carry out their instructions; agility and strength are required to rescue one's loaded wagon
out of a traffic jam without spilling
the stock-in-trade.

The last day to emanate from Tin

Pan Alley is the magnanimous offer of the Messrs. Al Boasberg, Phil Baker and Ben Bernie. Its prepossessing title is:

"You Stole My Wife, You Horse-thief!"

There are more than a hundred haunted houses in New York for which there are neither tenants nor buyers.
Most of them are located on Staten Island and some on Glen Island. There is one old castle-like place, smothered
in ivy, the gardens a jungle of weeds

drainage and ventilation in the ear. It would do you no harm to take a little cod liver oil, say a teaspoonful or two

a day, for a few months.

I use a telephone constantly in my office work. I have been told it is injurious to the nervous system.

Does it affect the hearing? (B. E. B.)

Answer.—It is harmful to the Saxophone Not So Harmless.

Please tell me whether I am likely to suffer any injury to my health in any way by playing the saxophone

about two hours daily? (H. T.)

Answer.—No. It won't harm your health. But it is pretty tough on the audience.

Is Not to Be Supposed.

You state that pipe furnace heat is the most healthful. Isn't that kind of heat supposed to be too dry? We are having just home built, and we are undecided which to install, a hot water furnace or a hot air furnace.

(Mrs. K. J.)

Answer.—The question of humidity depends rather on the temperature of the room atmosphere, not on the method of heating. I believe the hot air furnace is best for the average home, so that no one accused of efficiency when the ventilation is most thorough.

Today's Talk

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE MASTER.

Leadership doesn't bluster. When it is at its height you hardly know that it is around.

Most of the great achievements in this life are done under cover attracting little or no attention until some vast or notable task looms into time and space as the product of toil and hunger and discouragement.

History sparkles with the names of men and women who were little known

up to the time of their large and notable successes.

And the reason for this is that all world-wide and enduring success is achieved by men of vision, preparation and willingness to wait.

Then the master appears. And the entire world pauses to wonder or to express surprise.

But the process is a simple one.

There is little to wonder at or to get excited about. Bigness grows. It isn't born like a baby. Who knows what the baby is going to be, who smiles its innocence into admiring eyes? Some day that baby, after years of growth, may thrill the world!

The Toulonians tell of a boy, the

TWO ARE INDICTED IN FATAL SHOOTING

J. B. Waltrip and Roger Gilbert, of 140 Luckie street, arrested Friday night following a free-for-all fight in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson at 114 1-2 Garnett street, in which Leonard Langford was fatally shot, Tuesday were indicted by a Fulton county grand jury on a charge of murder in connection with Langford's death.

The two men are being held at police headquarters following a verdict returned by a coroner's jury Saturday night that "Langford came to his death from two pistol shot wounds in the body inflicted by Jack Waltrip and Rogers Gilbert or either of them, and we recommend that both be held for further investigation of murder."

Waltrip was wounded in the right leg by a pistol shot and Gilbert received a wound on the head from a blackjack. Langford was carried to Grady hospital, where he died.

An indictment charging kidnapping was returned by the jury against Mrs. Ethel Laxer, of Springfield, Mo., who is charged with having kidnapped her 6-year-old daughter from her former husband, A. C. Bennett. The alleged kidnapping is said to have taken place on August 25, the child having been enticed away from a South Prior street residence, where she was living with her father, according to the indictment.

James H. Oliver, a traveling salesman in the employ of Ernest M. Currier, of Currier & Roby, New York firm, with local headquarters in the Gould building, was indicted on a charge of larceny after trust. He is alleged to have disappeared with a sample case of merchandise belonging to the firm said to have been valued at $1,211.70.

Principals in Woman's Suicide Now Being Probed by Officials

Mrs. C. W. Coleman (left), pretty young divorcee and nurse who saw service in France during the world war, who committed suicide early Monday morning, and Albert Z. East (at right), who is being held pending a thorough probe by police. East is being held because of reports to police that he frequently had been seen with Mrs. Coleman and that on Sunday afternoon the two went for a motor ride and are believed to have quarreled.

Inquest into the death from poisoning of Mrs. C. W. Coleman, of 110 Luckie street, who died early Monday, was delayed Tuesday by Coroner Paul Donohoe pending outcome of police investigation which is expected to establish her identity and learn the cause of her estrangement from her husband.

A letter found in the effects of Mrs. Coleman informed her, according to police, that C. W. Coleman, her husband, who is a traveling salesman, would be at a hotel in Montgomery, Ala., Tuesday night. The letter informed her that he wanted to know her permanent address so that he might forward a copy of a final divorce decree, and also requested that she resume her maiden name immediately.

Atlanta police attempted to communicate with Coleman in Montgomery, but he had not reached the hotel named in his letter Tuesday night.

Albert Z. East, of a Luckie street address, still is a prisoner at police headquarters pending completion of the investigation. He is said to have been on friendly terms with Mrs. Coleman, and it was he who carried the dying woman to Grady hospital after he had been summoned by a friend of Mrs. Coleman's. East and Mrs. Coleman are said to have quarreled on the afternoon preceding her death.

Officers are intent upon discovering the maiden name of Mrs. Coleman and to learn the identity of any relatives she may have had in order that they may send the body to them. They are holding East because he has declined to discuss his relations with the woman or to say whether he knows her real identity.

Elaborate entertainment is being provided for members of the Pioneer School Boys' club who will be guests Friday night at the Venable home, 1020 Ponce de Leon avenue, of Sam and Walter Venable and Mrs. Lizzie Venable Mason.

Features of the program include violin selections by Jan Rubini, famous violinist and director of the Howard theater orchestra; vocal selections by Miss Margaret Battle; an address by Sam Small, noted evangelist and writer, and piano selections and songs by Warren Howard.

James L. Logan, president of the organization for the past five years, and who has resided in Atlanta for 57 years, was a leading figure in organizing the club. The first president was the late William T. Henley. Following Mr. Henley, Henry R. Durand, W. Woods White and Mr. Logan have served as heads of the club. John M. Graham is now vice president, and Herbert H. Brown is secretary.

Fathers and mothers of members of the club provided the means of cultivation of the sentiment which formed the basis for progressive education after the war between the states.

The necessity for free schools became an issue and parents of club members threw their influence into the struggle, which resulted in the opening of public schools in Atlanta on January 31, 1872. Every man who attended an Atlanta private school previous to 1872, is eligible for membership in the club.

The membership includes A. C. Briscoe, Edward C. Peters, D. C. Fulton, John M. Graham, John Aldridge, F. A. Hammond, Clark Howell, James L. Logan, Herbert H. Brown, E. C. Kontz, James L. Mayson, J. R. Nutting, Edgar Oliver, Henry C. Peeping, Frank H. Peck, S. H. Venable, W. Woods White, John A. Whitner, John G. Burckhardt and others.

Major Walter A. Sims and members of city council have been invited to the entertainment.

COURT UPHOLDS JITNEY DECISION

Sustaining a ruling of Judge George L. Bell, of Fulton superior court, in which he upheld the anti-jitney bus ordinance passed a number of months ago by the Atlanta city council and which had the effect of eliminating jitney busses from the streets of Atlanta, the Georgia supreme court Tuesday ruled the law constitutional. The decision of the supreme court was predicated on an appeal from Judge Bell's ruling in the lower court in a suit brought by Sam F. Schlesinger, as president of the Atlanta Jitney Bus association, and about 100 operators of jitney busses.

At the time the law was to have become effective, plaintiffs obtained a temporary injunction to prevent city police from enforcing a law which they termed "unconstitutional, confiscatory and discriminatory." At a hearing, Judge Bell dissolved the injunction, which had the effect of outlawing the operators.

Mr. Schlesinger could not be reached Tuesday night for a statement regarding the ruling of the higher tribunal, but the time Judge Bell dissolved the injunction, he declared the association would fight the action of the city in "all courts of the land."

James L. Key, of the law firm of Key, McClelland & McClelland, who represented jitney men in their fight, stated he had not communicated with his clients and, therefore, was not in a position to say what would be done. When apprised of the ruling he said he had not known it before and had not given the matter any thought as yet.

The fight on jitneys was instigated principally by the Georgia Railway and Power company, operating the street railway service in Atlanta. The company declared that it would be impossible to continue operation under conditions which it claimed caused a large yearly loss. Officials of the company cited the fact that the concern was taxed to pay for street paving, while jitneys were licensed to run in competition to the company without paying an equal tax burden. Large amounts were extracted from earnings of the power company to pay one-third of the paving of streets and the company also had to keep tracks in repair for a competing corps of busses to run over, officials charged. City council passed an ordinance barring jitneys from streets on which street cars run and on streets parallel to those on which street car tracks are laid and on certain streets designated as "traffic arteries." This practically eliminated them.

Another provision of the law was that busses of less than 17-passenger capacity were ruled off the street and only the lower company was given the right to run these as supplementary service to street cars.

NINE VITAL FACTS

Here, in brief form, we present for your information nine vital facts underlying the success of Dodge Brothers, Inc., and the goodness and value of their product.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., consider these facts so fundamentally important to the motor car buyer that they will be repeated, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The purchase of an automobile is a serious and important business. The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth.

A few of these essentials are clearly outlined above. They go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

College Head Favors Scholarships for Athletes

Dr. Apple Urges Matter Of Assisting Football Men Be Done in Open

This is the fourth article of a new series written by the president of one of the oldest colleges in America on the evils of the present methods of some college football finance. President Apple, himself a veteran of the football field and an enthusiast for the game believes that the time has come for a house-cleaning. His articles supplement the brilliant series by "Graduate Manager," which were recently published by The Constitution.

BY DR. HENRY H. APPLE.
President of Franklin and Marshall College.

CHAPTER IV. How Football Thwarts the Faculty.

The "graduate manager" has written of the practice of arranging special scholarships for athletes. My information regarding this is not so explicit as my knowledge of the other activities of which I have written, but I have often heard it spoken of as a common proceeding. Of course no one could condone for an instant such flatly dishonest creation of fake scholarships as described by "graduate manager." and it should be vigorously opposed and condemned by every educator and parent.

But I see no reason why scholarships should not be offered to athletes as well as other students, providing a standard of scholastic attainment is definitely established and maintained, and providing, further, that it is all done openly, instead of in the skulking manner described by the graduate manager.

During the last year our board of governors of athletics entered upon a plan of loaning to worthy athletes, lacking funds to go to college, sums not exceeding $300 each, payable in five years. It is an actual loan, and not a gift, in each case. The boys sign notes and they are required to pay back the money. Furthermore, the full fifteen units for entrance without conditions are required before the awarding of the loan, and the beneficiaries are held to standards of faithful effort in their classroom work. Our experience of one year shows that the majority of worth-while boys spend the idea of loan to a boy of limited means, and it is used effectively. Sometimes the room is in a college dormitory, and sometimes in a fraternity house; sometimes there is work connected with it—often perfunctory—and sometimes the boy is obtained by just a flat offer of board and room.

I believe a clearer and more rational view of this entire problem can be obtained if one looks at it with regard to the basic function and purpose of an American college. Undoubtedly the business of our colleges is, as I have said, to fit boys for service in a democracy. We have a democratic form of government—the most successful of its kind in the history of the world—based upon equality of opportunity and free access to the avenues of advancement. Accepted and proved standards of education have been built up, and our educational system has been gradually adapted to a great national purpose—to turn out men and women qualified and equipped to articulate successfully and usefully with our national organization of life—governmental and agricultural.

If this be accepted, and I don't see how anyone can reasonably deny it, one must inevitably view the widespread commercialization of college sports in its bearing on educational ideals. And viewing it thus, the conclusion that such commercialization is subversive of every high purpose of every great ideal of American education is inescapable.

Distorts the Curriculum. Democracy necessitates consideration of an established form of conduct and capacity. Extreme specialization, and disproportionate rewards for the same, before a student has acquired a sound foundation of general information, and a dependable scale of relative values, cannot but bring about warped standards, thwarting the educator in his task of turning out a genuinely educated man.

Undue stress on athletics—leaving out of account for a moment the grosser considerations of commercialization—must inevitably have this result, just as extreme devotion to vocational training with corresponding neglect of cultural studies would distort a college curriculum, and turn out a genuinely educated man.

I am not belittling specialization, but I insist that it should have its roots in a genuine and broad education. There is ample opportunity for specialization, in post-graduate and professional courses, and I am firmly of the opinion that undergraduate students should have constantly held before them the ideal of a well-rounded education, conceived from the democratic standpoint, and with no twist or perversion by either vocational athletics or too much vocational training.

This may seem a digression from my original topic, but I believe it is exactly relevant to the discussion. (Tomorrow: Nation-wide movement needed.)

FINAL PETREL SCRIMMAGE TODAY

There are only three more days of practice before the Stormy Petrels invade Grant field for the first game of the season. Oglethorpe Tech in their annual clash.

Coch Harry Robertson's charges are working hard every afternoon, preparing themselves for the battle. Coach Robertson announced yesterday that he expected to have his men in the pink of condition.

Monday afternoon the varsity had a light day, the afternoon being spent in signal drills. A scrimmage took place between the second-string men and the "rats" that lasted for about 30 minutes, in which the second-stringers won by 14 points.

Yesterday afternoon the varsity indulged in a long scrimmage with the "rats." Most of the afternoon was used in the skirmish. The "rats" took the count, but only after a hard struggle.

Coch Robertson announced yesterday afternoon that all during this week he would give the majority of his time to the varsity. In order to insure that there will be no morning session on account of the opening of school, which will necessitate all players attending classes.

For the rest of the week secret practice will be held each afternoon. After today there will be no morning session on account of the opening of school, which will necessitate all players attending classes.

There were a few Fort Worth partisans within our gates Tuesday and one of them had considerable comment to utter regarding the fight made this year for the pennant in the Texas league. It seems the rest of the league was out to beat Fort Worth and they didn't care much how the job was accomplished, or so was the burden of the visitors' tale. There is apt to be more or less prejudice in what a man says about his town and its possessions, particularly its baseball club, but we will relate the story anyway.

One of the tricks perpetrated by the Texas league to discourage the Panthers, and we all know this is true, was to cut the season in half when it became apparent that the Panthers again were going to run away with the pennant if something wasn't done real quickly.

ABOUT the time the season was split Larry Gardner, the former Red Sox and Cleveland third baseman, was relieved as manager of the Dallas club, which potentially was very strong, and Snipe Conley, the former pitcher, placed in charge. He made a brave fight with a fine club and almost won out, but out visitor from Texas informs us that when the race narrowed down until it was so hot it glowed, two clubs in the league conceived the idea of trading themselves a couple of pitchers, transferring a man who could beat Fort Worth and had done so regularly, from one club to the other just on the eve of a series between the latter and the Panthers.

Still Fort Worth led the league, and the time came when new players could not be bandied about the league, so directors of the circuit got together and decided they would suspend the rules for 1925 and go about hammering the Panthers insensate with their cards on the table.

WE ASK you, Mr. Baseball Fan, to consider those things and tell us what you think of the heart of a baseball club which could surmount these obstacles and then completely knock out the runner-up club in a playoff of a tied finish?

That is the baseball club we are greeting today. They will be here two days to play the Crackers and we venture to say that two more courageous minor league baseball clubs never before faced each other on a diamond.

YOU will recall, of course, the disheartening atmosphere which hung in great gloom about Atlanta during the period of extreme depression in the middle of the season. You will recall that some folks came out in public and announced their dissatisfaction with the way things were being conducted. But you also will recall that Bert Niehoff strengthened his pitching staff, adhered to the rest of his ball players and won a neat after a driving finish conducted mostly while fighting on alien fields.

There is another example of courage. And the more we survey the facts the more inclined are we to reach a decision that iron nerve is going to play a big part in the fortunes of the Crackers from now on. The team which falters in this post-season affair is going to lose.

VOTE FOR CITY HALL BONDS TO "GET RIGHT" TODAY

Baseball players from time immemorial have been credited with being a superstitious lot and the tomes of diamond history are full of tales of hunchbacks, of goats and dogs and "rejuvenate" bats that have brought success to teams and glory to players through their supernatural influences.

J. Carlisle (Red) Smith, star third baseman of the champion Crackers, who today clash with Fort Worth for their first chance in years to claim the title of All-Southern champions, is no exception to the rule that ball players are strong for "luck" pieces and luck stunts but he has a new slant on this "luck" business as far as legend records have ever had.

"I believe the most important I have ever played for Atlanta before I go into this series, and I just naturally believe it will help me to get the breaks."

Smith, a resilient Atlantan, lives in Morningstar which puts him in the precinct B of the ninth ward and his vote will be cast for city hall bonds.

theater, the surrender of Lee to Grant at Appomattox, the famous picture will be remounted with all the wealth of its national appeal. Don't miss it.

The Rialto Theater.
Patrons of the Rialto theater have welcomed William Whitney Hubner and his orchestra back to the Rialto. The picture is "Not So Long Ago," the chief picture, with Betty Bronson and Ricardo Cortez as the leads, is a knockout. The orchestra has undergone several changes, all for the better.

Larry Semon is shown in a new comedy, "Horseshoes," and a news reel completes the program.

Metropolitan Theater.
Constance Talmadge has one of the most difficult roles of her screen career in "Her Sister From Paris," a comedy the star portrays in dual role—that of a meek, thoroughly domesticated wife and, when the husband fails to respond to this type of femininity, the role of a madcap Parisian dancer. Enrico Leide and his big new orchestra are receiving great ovations at each performance. Phil and the Carolina Trio are a quartette sensation.

Sportively Speaking

By H.C. HAMILTON
Atlanta's First Dixie Series.
The Panthers' Battle.
The Nerve of Niehoff.

THE town takes on the gala appearance of a Washington, a Pittsburgh or Cleveland when it has been denied a world's series for years. Atlanta becomes the baseball center of the southeast, and means to produce its enthusiasm in its trimmings, the attitude of its population towards visiting Fort Worth. This is the first time Atlanta has been part of a series for the Dixie championship, although it has had some excellent baseball clubs, and although it is the best minor league city in the country. The greatest crowd ever to witness a series in the Southern league will be on hand at Spiller's field today.

There is quite a contrast between this city's post-season baseball and that of Fort Worth. Perennially Fort Worth wins the Texas league championship and steps into a series for the southern championship, usually winning. Despite the familiarity which is supposed to breed contempt Atlanta fans will take careful note of the fact that two special trains will roll into this city today from Fort Worth and they will bring a big crowd of fans and a 40-piece band to whoop things up in the Texas league section.

There were a few Fort Worth partisans within our gates Tuesday and one of them had considerable comment to utter regarding the fight made this year for the pennant in the Texas league. Baseball players from time immemorial have been credited with being a superstitious lot and the tomes of diamond history are full of tales of hunchbacks, of goats and dogs and "rejuvenate" bats that have brought success to teams and glory to players through their supernatural influences.

J. Carlisle (Red) Smith, star third baseman of the champion Crackers, who today clash with Fort Worth for their first chance in years to claim the title of All-Southern champions, is no exception to the rule that ball players are strong for "luck" pieces and luck stunts but he has a new slant on this "luck" business as far as legend records have ever had.

"I believe the most important I have ever played for Atlanta before I go into this series, and I just naturally believe it will help me to get the breaks."

Smith, a resilient Atlantan, lives in Morningstar which puts him in the precinct B of the ninth ward and his vote will be cast for city hall bonds.

"I'm going to start on the day of the first big game by voting for city hall bonds, about the best turn I can do for Atlanta and just naturally believe it will help me to get the breaks."

theater, the surrender of Lee to Grant at Appomattox, the famous picture will be remounted with all the wealth of its national appeal. Don't miss it.

The Rialto Theater.
Patrons of the Rialto theater have welcomed William Whitney Hubner and his orchestra back to the Rialto. The picture is "Not So Long Ago," the chief picture, with Betty Bronson and Ricardo Cortez as the leads, is a knockout. The orchestra has undergone several changes, all for the better.

Larry Semon is shown in a new comedy, "Horseshoes," and a news reel completes the program.

Metropolitan Theater.
Constance Talmadge has one of the most difficult roles of her screen career in "Her Sister From Paris," a comedy the star portrays in dual role—that of a meek, thoroughly domesticated wife and, when the husband fails to respond to this type of femininity, the role of a madcap Parisian dancer. Enrico Leide and his big new orchestra are receiving great ovations at each performance. Phil and the Carolina Trio are a quartette sensation.

FORT WORTH SUPPORTERS ARRIVE HERE TODAY

Panthers Practice in New Orleans Tuesday

Manager Atz Expresses Confidence of Meeting Niehoff on Even Terms

New Orleans, September 22.—(AP)—Flanked by more than 300 rooters, the Fort Worth Panthers, champions of the Texas league, entrained here tonight at 7 o'clock for Atlanta, Ga., where they will cross bats with the Crackers, pennant winners in the Southern association, for the baseball supremacy of the south.

The Panthers' special train of 13 coaches is due to arrive in Atlanta at 8:30 a. m., tomorrow, and with the benefit of a strenuous workout which the team had today at Heinemann park in New Orleans, Manager Jake Atz expressed confidence that his team will meet the Atlanta nine on an even basis.

Upon arrival here today the Texas league players paraded over a portion of the city, escorted by the New Orleans police department band and a squad of mounted patrolmen. Another parade is scheduled for the Panthers when they reach Atlanta.

Gus "Lefty" Johns was tonight indicated as the probable hurling champion in the first game. The roster of players in the Texas party was given out as follows: Pitchers, Johns, Walkup, Tate, Wachtel, North, Eder, catchers, Moore, Smith, infielders, Konechey, Palmer, Windle, Mullen, Phelan; outfielders, Sears, Davis, Eddington, Calvo and Manager Atz.

Today's Grandstand Tickets Sold; Bleachers and Standing Room Left

All grandstand tickets to the Wednesday game between Atlanta and Fort Worth have been sold, according to President Dan Michalove. Four thousand grandstand tickets for the Thursday game are still on sale at Oppenheim's.

Five thousand bleacher tickets and standing room are available for today's game and may be purchased at the hall park. Mr. Michalove does not believe that anyone will be turned away today.

Cavet To Oppose Johns At 2 O'Clock; Weather Man Forecasts Rain in Atlanta

In mid-season as manager of the Dallas club and did wonders for it: Amos Carter, publisher of The Star-Telegram and vice president of the Fort Worth club, and W. K. Stripling, president of the Fort Worth club, were the first two to be named as the probable hurling champion in the first game.

The Star-Telegram's special train is the fifth that newspaper has sponsored since the Dixie series began. The series is the sixth annual.

The city is going to be well aware of the presence of the visitors, for everyone is going to be supplied with a booklet of the Dixie series, and pictures of the Dixie series will be worn by practically all.

Interest in the series has not diminished the slightest bit in Atlanta. In spite of the fact that Oppenheim's cigar store had been besieged Monday by fans purchasing reserved seats for the game, there was another long line of waiting customers when the sale opened again Tuesday. All day long clerks were busy handing out the pastebards and they met with a ready sale, in spite of the fact that most of the choice seats had been disposed of. Bleacher seats were placed on sale at Oppenheim's also, and at Chess' place on Auburn avenue.

As for the baseball teams themselves, submerged as they are by the welcoming clamor just now, they did miss their workouts Tuesday. The Panthers took advantage of a pause in New Orleans to go to the Pelicans' park and iron the railroad tracks, and again indicated that they were not to be taken lightly.

Cracker's choice will fall on Cy Warrick, since Niehoff is sold on the idea that a left-hander will be able to do things to the visiting team which might be a tougher job for a right-hander.

It was announced Tuesday that special street car service would start from Broad and Walton streets at 11:30 this morning, running on a two-minute schedule until the game gets under way. Eighteen open cars, in addition to six other cars with trailers, will be marked at the park to await the end of the contest. They will move cityward as fast as they are filled and relays of other cars will come behind.

VOTE THIS DAY!

for a

NEW CITY HALL

and a

Greater Atlanta

Polls Open From 7 A. M. to 7 P. M.

NO CITY PROPERTY TO BE SOLD!
NO INCREASE IN TAX RATE!
ATLANTA LABOR TO BE USED!
THE KEY TO CIVIC PROGRESS!
THE ISSUE IS UP TO YOU!!

THE EYES OF THE WORLD ARE UPON

ATLANTA THIS DAY

The whole world knows that Atlanta is at the parting of the ways---

The world is looking to see whether Atlanta has the courage and the vision to go forward---

The world will decide today whether Atlanta is worthy of continuing its old role as the leader of the southland---

Or Whether it will yield the crown to some younger, more courageous, more enterprising city---

The issue is squarely up to the voters of Atlanta, whose bread and butter depends on whether Atlanta goes forward---

It is not yet too late to register and cast
YOUR vote for progress and prosperity---

Registration opens 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.
You can register and vote for bonds today

THEY SEE THE CRITICAL NEED OF THE HOUR--

"City hall bonds not to increase taxes."
MAYOR SIMS.

"This is a material opportunity for Atlantans to show their faith in the future of the city."
W. R. C. SMITH,
President Chamber of Commerce.

"The passage of this bond issue will stiffen the self-confidence of Atlanta. The actual construction of the new city hall will restore the civic self-respect of our city. No citizen who has to pass through the dingy and worn-out relic we call the City Hall can go through such an experience with any degree of civic self-respect."
JOHN T. HANCOCK,
President Board of Education.

"Things are looking good in Atlanta. Indications every day point to a greater era of prosperity. We all should work for the good of the entire city without regard to section. We must have no lagging territory."
WILLIAM CANDLER,
Chairman "Advertise Atlanta" Drive.

"The passage of the City Hall bonds will be a signal for the start of the building boom in Atlanta that will entail expenditures of from ten to twenty millions of dollars and provide work for thousands of persons."
J. R. LITTLE,
Foreman Fulton County Grand Jury.

"Rentals from buildings on present sites will pay for new municipal structure. The new building will be erected under a plan which will not cost the taxpayer a penny."
FRANK WELDON,
Secretary Taxpayers' League.

"There is no question but what Atlanta needs a new City Hall. The one we have at present is entirely too small. The Police Station is a disgrace to the city. I think so long as we can build this new building and pay for it out of funds secured from the rentals of the present City Hall, Fire Headquarters and Police Station property building, we should, by all means, take advantage of this opportunity."
EDW. H. INMAN.

"The School Department is now being forced out of the City Hall because of inadequate space. The erection at the location suggested will do much to unify the city and stabilize valuable central property in Atlanta."
WILLIS A. SUTTON,
Superintendent of Schools.

"All interest and sinking fund payments are to be taken care of from the income from the rental of the present city-owned property, thereby not costing the taxpayers anything."
REUBEN ARNOLD,
President Central Improvement Asso.

"At this time when the South is undergoing its greatest period of development and Atlanta has reason to see herself as a great city of half a million people within a few years' time, Atlantans should take care of the needs we have today and prepare for the expansion that is surely coming."
BOLLING H. JONES.

"It is the duty of every Atlanta wife and mother to register and vote for city hall bonds today, to remove the present police station as a moral hazard to wayward youth and to set new standards of civic pride that will enable achievement of our ideals for schools and other things dear to every woman's heart."
MRS. SAMUEL M. INMAN.

"Let us have 8,000 men and women, volunteer minute-men in the cause of civic advancement, to register today and go to the polls to make an overwhelming victory of this, the first great test to be met in the campaign to send Atlanta magnificently forward."
EUGENE R. BLACK.

"Disregarding all the great material benefits that will come from this improvement, Atlanta should vote solidly for a new city hall today for its spiritual value—to give Atlanta a civic home that will fittingly bespeak the true character of her citizenship."
W. W. ORR.

"A great opportunity to group the state, city and county property that will make Atlanta and Georgia well known as the most beautiful state capital in America."
IVAN E. ALLEN.

"If bonds are voted there will be a tremendous amount of money expended in private improvements and there will be a real boom in Atlanta that will rebound to the good of everybody in Atlanta. It will bring work for thousands for several years to come and give the city the most splendid advertising it could possibly receive."
WILLIAM T. CANDLER.

City Hall to be built by "Atlanta contractors—Atlanta architects—Atlanta labor. No city-owned property to be sold, but leased and income to provide interest and sinking fund to retire these bonds. No increase in tax rate. Mayor to appoint Bond Commission." Extract from resolution to be introduced by ALDERMAN CLAUDE L. ASHLEY, Fourth Ward.

"Atlantans, remember the work of the men who made this city what it is today and follow their example."
J. L. McCORD.

"Any block of land as close to the center of population as this proposed site is would cost several times as much in any other location."
W. TOM WINN,
Former Fulton County Commissioner.

"This present new city hall movement is the best chance the city and county have had since the removal of the City Hall to its present site, to restore this convenient group of public records, of all tax-paying, tax-returning and registering places."
CATOR WOOLFORD.

Tallulah School Trustee Board Holds Meeting of Importance

Interest in state club work was centered in the meeting of the trustees of Tallulah Falls Industrial school Tuesday afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's club with Mrs. John K. Otley, president of the board, presiding. This was the first meeting since the first biennial council of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs which was held at the school in June, Mrs. Price Gilbert, secretary, read her report.

Matters of importance have arisen since the Greater Tallulah was inaugurated. The craft house was open all summer for the accommodation of the twenty annual scholarship pupils, and much lovely handicraft was completed. A reservoir has been built which will furnish a water supply for the school and a well is now being blasted through the solid granite of the mountain on which the school is built.

Mrs. Hickey Gives Scholarship.
Announcement was made by Mrs. Otley of creation of a scholarship by Mrs. James E. Hickey in memory of her mother, the late Mrs. Jas. F. Alexander, pioneer Atlanta, to be called the Ada R. Alexander scholarship. The Kathleen Wingo Pickett scholarship was renewed by Smith D. Pickett, as a name gift for Mrs. Pickett. New scholarships reported included a paid-up $2000 scholarship given by Mrs. Kelly Evans, of Hot Springs, W. Va., and Atlanta, known as the Letitia Pate Evans scholarship, and the renewal by W. S. Witham of the five annuals at $750, which bear the name of his daughter, Laura Witham Dorsey.

Failure to Pay Automobile Tax Costly to Owner.
What is probably the largest amount ever paid at one time to register two automobiles was received Tuesday by the secretary of state from a man in south Georgia whose name is withheld.

The amount received is $215.82, and the reason for such a large payment is that the automobile owner had failed to register his cars since 1919, and the state forced payment of penalties for his oversight.

The case was worked up by an agent of the state department of revenue, who came across the information that the automobile owner had not registered his cars for several years. When paying costs of registration and penalties the owner declared that hereafter he would rather adopt a policy of paying on "a dollar down" plan instead of such a large lump sum.

SUPPLY OF POWER AGAIN IS NORMAL IN AUGUSTA AREA
Information that the Augusta-Aiken Railway and Electric company has resumed a 15-minute trolley schedule in Augusta in place of the hour schedule caused several weeks ago by the drought, was received Tuesday by the Georgia public service commission.

Receipt of a telegram by the commission is said to indicate a break in the drought conditions as affecting Augusta, as it means that the company has found enough power to operate at the regular 15-minute schedule again.

The hour schedule was caused by the low condition of power supply and had been in effect since August 20.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Continuing Cortez' Conquest Of Mexico.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

COMING IN SIGHT OF MEXICO, CORTEZ WAS SURPRISED TO FIND IT A LARGE CITY WITH MANY BEAUTIFUL, TERRACED PALACES AND TEMPLES OF THE SUN GOD. IT WAS SITUATED ON AN ISLAND IN THE MIDDLE OF A LAKE.

MONTEZUMA, THE KING OF THE AZTECS, SAW THAT IT WAS USELESS TO FIGHT AND ADMITTED THE SPANIARDS INTO THE CITY WHERE THEY WERE RECEIVED AS GODS BY THE AWE-STROCK MEXICANS.

ONCE WITHIN THE WALLS OF MEXICO CORTEZ FOUND HIMSELF IN A BAD SITUATION. HIS LITTLE ARMY WAS IN THE CAPITAL OF AN UNFRIENDLY COUNTRY AND OUTNUMBERED BY THOUSANDS OF INDIANS.

JUST AT THIS TIME WORD REACHED CORTEZ THAT THE GOVERNOR OF CUBA, WHO HAD BECOME JEALOUS OF CORTEZ' SUCCESS, WAS SENDING ANOTHER LEADER, NARVAEZ, TO ARREST HIM AND TAKE HIS PLACE.

ANGERED BY THIS TREATMENT CORTEZ TOOK 200 MEN AND RODE OFF TO ATTACK NARVAEZ.

IN THE ABSENCE OF THEIR LEADER, THE SPANIARDS WHO WERE LEFT BEHIND IN THE CITY OF MEXICO BEGAN FIGHTING WITH THE AZTECS. OUTNUMBERED BY THE INDIANS, THE WHITE MEN FORTIFIED THEMSELVES IN THE TEMPLE OF THE SUN GOD.—(CONTINUED)

HIGHWAY RELIEF WORK TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Highway construction designed to furnish employment to drought-stricken Georgia farmers will begin next week in Oconee county as the first of 30 or more counties affected, John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, announced Tuesday.

The section of road on which construction is to start is that between Athens and Monroe, from the Clarke county line through Oconee to Walton county. Work on the second project will be started several days later in Elbert county on route 36, which runs from Elberton to the Savannah river. The third drought area project will be in Jasper county, and others will follow rapidly in quick succession.

Delegations from Madison and Hart counties have had under discussion with J. D. Price, of the Georgia public service commission, chairman of a committee of the Athens Booster club to confer with counties on road building plans, the matter of issuing county bonds for roads.

Madison county citizens have already taken steps looking toward a bond election for that purpose. Mr. Price said, and Hart county officials have issued a call for a general election for the purpose of voting on an issue of $200,000 in road bonds.

YOUTH WHO TRIED TO END OWN LIFE SLIGHTLY BETTER

The condition of William Artz, 25, of McDaniel street, who Tuesday morning attempted to end his life by shooting himself with a pistol while talking over the telephone, was reported improved Tuesday night by physicians at Georgia Baptist hospital, where he was taken after the shooting.

Artz early Tuesday morning went to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sallie Dixon, of 147 Confederate avenue, and after chatting with her and a neighbor, Mrs. H. J. Johnson, for a few minutes, asked to use the telephone. Neither Mrs. Dixon nor Mrs. Johnson were able to hear the telephone number or the conversation.

POWER OF AUDITOR IN PHILIPPINES GIVEN HARD BLOW

Manila, P. I., September 22.—The Philippine supreme court has handed down a ruling which threatens completely to disorganize financial affairs of the insular government.

By a vote of 6 to 2 the court gave a decision Tuesday that henceforth will permit rulings of Auditor Benjamin Wright to be appealed to local Philippine courts, instead of to the governor general or the president of the United States, as heretofore.

Wright refused to comment on the action beyond announcing that he would appeal to the supreme court in Washington.

However, it is learned from various sources that the decision constitutes a severe blow to Governor General Leonard Wood's prestige and to American authority in the Philippines.

GENERAL SHOWERS AND COOL WEATHER PREDICTED TODAY

Showers with lowering temperatures are promised Atlanta today, according to C. F. von Hermann, weather forecaster. The showers due today will be due to the cooler weather and will be a steady downpour, he said.

The temperature Tuesday again went to a high point, registering 93 degrees at 3 o'clock. The lowest recorded for the day, 75, was early in the morning.

Predictions for rain here also hold good for the entire state. The heat will be much less intense over the entire state and the drop in temperature will be a forerunner of the rains, it is predicted.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG ST. LOUIS RADIO STATION

St. Louis, September 2.—(AP)—Organization plans were completed today for the establishment in St. Louis of one of the largest radio broadcasting stations in the United States. It will be announced as St. Louis' Christmas gift to the nation.

The project, undertaken by nine business organizations headed by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, involves the erection of a $10,000 superstation of 5,000 watts, expected to be ready for operation shortly before Christmas.

It is proposed that the station, operated at a cost of approximately $135,000 a year, will typify the "Voice of St. Louis," signifying the St. Louis trade territory in five surrounding states. The site of the station will be about 16 miles from downtown St. Louis, so that programs will offer a minimum of interference with other stations in the city.

INSTALLMENT XLV.
SEPARATION.

Colonel Hallett was being weak and ineffective. His wife could see it and it gave her a fresh pang. Normally, George liked taking charge of a situation.

"I had already decided to leave the flat," she said, avoiding his look. "There is no reason why Joan should not stay on here with you indefinitely. At least—I rather took it for granted that arrangement would be acceptable to you."

It was a horrible way to have to speak to George—George who, for twenty years, had loved her and fussed over her, and had been petted in turn—"acceptable to you!"

She pulled herself up sharply. No good going over that again. Of course, it would hurt parting from George—parting from him in circumstances which entitled him to believe her a liar, a fraud, and even, with a tiny stretch of an indignant imagination, a faithless wife.

Better let him think her anything than make him stand beside her in the dock charged with the murder of Henry LeMay. It would be a poor love that could not deny itself, could not defame itself, for the sake of the loved one.

A long silence had fallen, in which he appeared to be considering her words.

"Yes, I think that would be as good an arrangement as any other," he said.

There seemed nothing more to be said, nothing to stay for. He moved toward the door.

"I suppose—that is—you will leave your address?"

"I'm not sure what it will be. The bank will always forward letters."

"Yes, of course. I—hadn't thought of the bank," said Colonel Hallett. "Odd how the simplest things slip one's memory. . . . Well—"

He turned away.

In the Hall She Stopped, Turned Back, Wrote a Hasty Note to Joan.

Mrs. Hallett was sorting her rings. One, two, three, four. In a minute George would have gone and the unbearable suspense would be over. She was feeling dizzy as if she were on the brink of a precipice and that she would inevitably fall over and cry out the truth.

"Good-by, George," she said faintly, and saw in the mirror that he had turned from the door.

"Margaret, I don't want to reopen the discussion, but—last night I rather led you into various statements. I put them into your mouth and challenged you to contradict them. Infernal lawyer's trick. . . . You know well enough the impression that has been made on my mind. Is there some appalling cross-purpose? Don't you care to deny anything? If you do I swear I will give the utmost weight to your denial."

She was growing dizzy again—that fatal dizziness that must be warded off. He believed her a liar and a fraud and perhaps he believed her faithless—yet the twenty years of loyalty and love were dragging him back to her side. At all costs—at the cost of her honor, her sanity, her life, she must thrust him away from her.

"There is nothing to deny, George," she said. She forced a note of exasperated weariness into his voice.

"Then we are to finish—like this?" he asked, his voice trembling. The tremble in his voice so nearly stamped her that she flew for refuge to a cold formality.

"I am afraid so, George. I have nothing to say—except—"

She stopped and he waited.

"Except that my life with you all these years has not been a sham. I've not been pretending to be happy. Will you try to believe that, please? I know in the circumstances it will be difficult—"

He broke in eagerly.

"It isn't difficult. I do believe it. That's why, somehow, in spite of everything—in spite of your own admission, I feel there must be a cross-purpose. You weren't in love with March a fortnight ago. A week ago even—I'll swear you didn't fool me with your kisses."

It was too much. She could not bear it.

"Stop, please," commanded Mrs. Hallett. "I've nothing to say to you beyond what I've said."

"But what I say is true. I believe that you've not been fooling me in that respect. I believe that you've loved me right up to—"

"Remember what Potter said," she cut in fiercely. "Remember that I lied to you about March coming to the flat. You know perfectly well that neither I nor anybody else can explain that away. Please be clear about this, George. I assert, but do not ask you to believe, that I have not been unfaithful to you. You are not entitled to a divorce. But I admit that I have deceived you."

"But look here, Margaret, if you will swear there was nothing of a really serious nature between you and March—"

"I will swear nothing about March," said Mrs. Hallett. "Go, please, George. I will be out of the flat by the time you come back tonight."

"You will swear nothing—but just now you said—O, very well!" said Colonel Hallett, grabbed at the handle of the door and thrust himself out of his wife's room.

For several moments after he had gone, Mrs. Hallett stood by the dressing table, her breath coming in gasps, as if she had been running. Then she grew calm. There was nothing really to get flustered about, she told herself. She had decided to leave George, but the agony of that resolution had passed with the darkness of the long night.

Her fatigue helped her. The human brain cannot keep at a high pitch of suffering for endless hours. Emotionally, Mrs. Hallett was already exhausted and when she turned again to her trunk she had no other thought than her packing.

By midday she had finished. She went into the drawing room and rang for Harcourt.

"I am going away for a little holiday," she explained, "but Colonel Hallett is compelled to stay in town. I am taking a couple of trunks. Will you have them put on a taxi?"

"Very good, madam."

Harcourt moved toward the door and hovered.

"A detective has just been here, madam, talking to the servants. I'm afraid. He asked me a number of questions concerning your movements. I refused to discuss the matter, but I must confess that without meaning to do so I did describe your movements. He's a very clever man—makes you answer one question by asking another, if you understand, madam?"

"It's of no importance, Harcourt. I am sorry you've had an unpleasant experience. I ought to have warned you they would probably do that. As far as I am concerned, it doesn't matter in the least, of course."

"Thank you, madam. I will call the taxi."

In the hall she stopped, turned back, wrote a hasty note to Joan, then entered the waiting taxi. She did not allow herself to look back.

Within five minutes of leaving Cornboise's flat, Joan was sure that she had laughed at Selkirk's warning and put it out of her thoughts. Within half an hour she was not so sure.

Over a solitary lunch at her club her words came back to her with the vivid memory of his strange personality.

There was some contradiction about Selkirk which she could not solve. He seemed, on the surface, a quiet, almost helpless man, broken by his misfortune. Yet now and again there would come a flash into those sad, gentle eyes like a stray spark from hidden fires.

"Women are supposed to be mysterious, but just look at these men!" ran Joan's unspoken thoughts. "There's daddy quarrelling with mother and suspecting her of all sorts of fantastic things at a time when she needs all the help she can get. There's poor old Selkirk becoming excited over the dreadful ways of a girl he doesn't know and can't care anything about. And Ray—"

New York, September 22.—The cotton market was quiet but generally steady today. After selling off in early trading from 24.55 to 24.45 for December, the price rallied to 24.52. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 11 to 15 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 9 to 15 points on active months, while September was 22 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and restoration of low crop figures. Two more private mid-month reports were issued, one estimating condition at 51.1 and indicated crop at 13,214,000 bales, while the other made condition 52.1 and indicated crop 13,488,000 bales. These figures were below the average reports previously published, and probably promoted some buying on the early advance, but demand was soon supplied by realizing or pre-bureau liquidation, the market selling off to 24.41 for October and 23.50 for January, or within a few points of yesterday's quotations.

Southern selling also was reported, but in comparatively small volume, and the afternoon market steadied up on covering by recent sellers and trade buying. October was relatively steady at times on belief that the early advance, but demand was soon supplied by realizing or pre-bureau liquidation, the market selling off to 24.41 for October and 23.50 for January, or within a few points of yesterday's quotations.

The average of all private reports published in the last few days makes the condition 52.2 and the indicated crop 13,578,000 bales. A canvass of New York cotton exchange members show expectation of a government condition report totaling 52.7 with a crop indication of 13,626,000 bales. Forecasts of the probable ginning to September 16 ranged from about 3,500,000 to 4,500,000.

NEW ORLEANS SESSION IS QUIET AFFAIR.

New Orleans, September 22.—The cotton market today was quiet, typical of the session immediately preceding a government report which will be issued at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, giving the condition of the crop of September 16, the indicated yield and the census bureau's total ginnings to the same date.

Most of the trading during the day was in process of evening up of cotton futures in the final trading, making gains to the same date.

After advancing 13 and 14 points on better cables than due, the market eased off 8 to 9 points, but rallied again in the final trading, making new highs and closing at the day of 11 to 15 points.

At the start Liverpool came in about five penny points better than due, but this together with continued dry weather in the belt caused the market to ease off five to ten points. The market advanced after the opening call, December trading up to 23.94 and March to 24.00. The three private reports of cotton ginnings in the final trading, making gains to the same date.

Following the early report the market was quiet, and prices fluctuating within a few points, there being little trading other than a little evening up of commitments. Near the close, however, there was a brief spurt of comparative activity and prices for all the active months but March and May made new highs a point or two above yesterday's closing, while the indicated crop was at or near the highest.

All the private reports issued for the half month ranged in condition from 51.9 to 55.5 and for yield from 13,100,000 bales to 14,375,000 bales.

Exports for the day totaled 18,325 bales, all from New Orleans.

REALTY VALUATION N. C. C. BEGINS TERM SYSTEM WINS OUT WITH BIG ENROLLMENT

Action of the mayor and council of Savannah in adopting the Somers system of realty valuation and in contracting with the Manufacturers' Appraisal company for aid in estimating property values, was upheld Tuesday by the state supreme court in affirming judgment of the lower court which was favorable to the city in the case of Tietjen vs. the city of Savannah.

The case grew out of a contract between the city of Savannah and the Manufacturers' Appraisal company for installation of the Somers system. The city was enjoined from making the proposed contract and paying money thereunder by John F. Tietjen, Jr., et al., as citizens and taxpayers. The contract involved expenditure of $25,000.

At an interlocutory hearing, the judge rendered a temporary injunction and plaintiffs filed exceptions. In affirming judgment of the lower court, the supreme court held that the city was not only to levy ad valorem taxes upon property but also to appoint boards of assessors to assess the value of taxable property in the city for purposes of uniform taxation under contract with other persons or agencies for the purpose of aiding the tax assessors in estimating the value of properties in the city.

The Day in Finance

New York, September 22.—Today's stock market was as surprising as yesterday's, but in a very different way. Yesterday after opening strong and active and making a record advance price for all time there was a severe decline, when call money opening at 4-1-2 per cent and gradually rising to 5-1-2 per cent, the highest since January 3, 1924. There was widespread calling of margins overnight as Miller Brothers, owners of the famous 101 ranch at Marland, Oklahoma, which contains nearly 50,000 acres, have a million a year, each, to spend. This year the ranch, owned by Colonel J. C. Miller, has put in the show's performances, parade and feasts, the ranch, as a company, put in the show's performances, parade and feasts, the ranch, as a company, put in the show's performances, parade and feasts.

Another unfavorable news item came from San Francisco in the announcement that California crude oil prices had been reduced from 10 to 35 cents a barrel. This is the first change which has occurred in California crude prices since last February, when advances of from 25 to 45 cents were announced. Since then, however, there has been an increase in the price of crude oil, and the daily production of crude oil from Standard Oil of California and other producers has been down a number of wells. Evidently it is expected that a reduction in crude oil prices will influence other to curtail production.

SELLING PRESSURE Rail and Motor Shares Lead HITS CURB LIST

New York, September 22.—(AP)—Selling pressure was renewed against today's curb market, carrying the main body of stocks lower, but chief speculative interest centered in the buoyancy of about a dozen industrial and public utilities, which were bid up briskly on the basis of special developments.

Total bond sales, $11,738,000.

New York, September 22.—(AP)—

New financing in large volume proved a disturbing counter attraction to bond trading today, causing a diversion of buying orders of new issues, and obscuring the rather narrow price movements of listed obligations. The recent clearing of money rates, although giving signs of relaxation to date, acted as a retarding influence. The strong investment demand for new offerings was attested today by the ready sale of several large issues, the most important of which were the $20,000,000 Argentine government loan, $17,500,000 for Shell Field and company, and $10,000,000 for the state of Bremen, Germany. The good reception accorded the foreign issues revived discussion concerning a $25,000,000 loan for the state of Bavaria, Germany, and several other European flotations, including $5,000,000 for a Polish industry. An additional $2,500,000 6-1/2 per cent loan for the electric power corporation of Germany will be placed on the market at 87.

Profit-taking appeared in nearly all divisions of the bond list. Recessions of 1/2 to 1 point were general throughout the rail group, embracing Florida, Western and Northern 7s, Pennsylvania general 6-1/2s, "Katy" 5s, Southern railway 6-1/2s
